Headteacher's daily blog

Date: Monday 27th April 2020

Dear all,

I hope you all had a good weekend. I am really pleased to let you know that we have sorted out a system for you to be able to share some of the work done by the children with their class teacher(s). Each class now has their own email address and this is clearly shown on the daily year group blogs. The teachers would love to be able to see what the children have been doing. For those of you who are able to do so (and there is no obligation to do so) you could send an email with an attached photo or piece of the children's work, which will then be commented on by one of the teachers. For this first week, why not just upload and send one piece of work by the end of the week and the teachers will respond by Friday. You could send this piece of work on whichever day you choose. This week will give us the chance to all get used to the system so that the following week more examples could be sent - further details to follow. Reception pupils already use the Tapestry system very well to share what the children have been doing, so should continue with this, please.

Next week we will all hopefully be used to using the shared emails and teachers will let you know how you can use it to upload more work and get more feedback.

All the teachers would like to say a massive 'Well done!' to all the children for what they have done so far. I know as well as any of you that there are good days and bad ones (hopefully not all bad ones...) as far as home learning is concerned. Well done, too, to all of you battling away each day to provide support for the children at the same time as juggling everything else in your lives. The link below seemed to provide some good ideas about how you can support yourself in these challenging times:

Wishing you all the best,

Mr Henery
