Headteacher's daily blog

Date: Thursday 9th April 2020

Dear all,

Tomorrow will be Good Friday, followed by the Easter weekend. Normally, we would have had a big focus in our assemblies on the Easter story and recounting the good news of the resurrection. If your child is missing singing some of the songs we would usually sing around this time, the following link takes you to some of our favourite Easter songs (word of warning - the Spring Chicken song is hard to get out of your head!).

I hope you have been able to get your hands on some Easter eggs and still manage to celebrate the holiday in the best way possible. If you are keen to tune in to some online services, don't forget I put some links on the Monday 30th Whole School blog. The next blog will be on Tuesday 14th April.

Have a great Easter,

Mr Henery
