Dear Parents / Carers

I hope your weekend has been a good one and that you enjoyed some of the easing of lockdown restrictions.

I know as time has gone by, everyone's patience, with not being able to do everything the same as before, has been tested. I came across the attached 'July resilience calendar' the other day and will be using it myself to keep seeing all the positives, even in challenging times.

Yesterday was the 72nd anniversary of the NHS when lots of people were able to applaud, once again, the efforts of NHS staff around the country. Thank you to all of our parents who have worked throughout the crisis and continue to do such an amazing job to support the rest of us.

Wishing you all the best

Neil Henery
