Spring Term 2020-2021

Newsletter 20

22nd February 2021

Dear Parents/Carers,

I really hope the children all had a good half term holiday and that you enjoyed the improvement in temperature over the weekend. Let's really hope the hardest parts of lockdown will soon be over as we move into spring. I am sure we are all interested to find out what the government will be announcing later today about removing some of the current restrictions and more details about the plans for pupils to all return to school.

As you might know, our JONK (Joy of Not Knowing) characteristic this half term is creativity.

Being creative allows children to learn new skills in a fun way. You often get a real sense of achievement when you create something new and often you practise other skills such as resilience and resourcefulness when you are being creative.

As part of the home learning over the next two weeks, teachers will be providing children with a 'menu' of activities that will hopefully capture the children's imagination and allow them to explore a range of topics and activities.

Most of the activities will also be 'screen free' ones as we recognise the need for children to be able to come away from a screen at different points during the week. Teachers will indicate in their learning blogs which times might be 'screen free' ones.

The school has also created a special Creative Padlet page and we would really love to see any pictures or photos of any of the work the children create – including a brief explanation.

The link to the 'Padlet' page can also be found on the website:

We hope to show some of sections of the 'Padlet' page in our end of week Celebration assemblies, which will be uploaded to the school website.

Yours sincerely,

N. Henery
